THE Prohibition State convention met in Louisville last week and nominated a full ticket, with Josiah Harris, of Paducah, for Governor. They reaffirmed the National platform. About one hundred delegates from all parts of the State were present. The meeting was harmonious, and $100 per month was subscribed for State work.

THE Middlesborough Herald wants to bet that there are more violations of the pistol carrying law in Middlesborough than in any other town double its size in two hemispheres. "Every little jack rabbit on the streets, who is old enough to know which end of the gun has 'pizen' in it, puts his little Indian killer in his hip pocket and sallies forth with the bluster of a swash-buckler, to learn the latest from Italy. Such as this is breeding a city of criminals and outlaws."

—A farmer near Atchison, Kas., wanted to dig a well, so he plowed a lot of land and planted it in oats. Every day he watched the oats, observing the spots which showed the greatest moisture. Finally he selected a spot and sank a well. At twenty-four feet he had a fine stream of water. It is said to be the best well in the county.

—There has been quarried in Maine a solid shaft of granite that will be much larger than the obelisk in Central Park and will be the monolith in the world. It is without a crack or flaw, and is 115 feet long and ten feet square at the base. The largest Egyptian obelisk, which is now at Rome, is 105 feet high, so that the Maine stone exceeds it by ten feet. It is computed to weigh not far from 850 tons.

—During the first three months of this year 86,000 immigrants landed in the United States. That is more than the total population of the State of Idaho, or Wyoming, or Nevada, or Arizona. But on the other hand that rate, if continued through the year, would give us only 344,000 immigrants for the year, which is 111,000 less than the immigration last year, and less than half the immigration of 1882, when the highest mark (788,992) was made.

DISEASED FOWLS

The Cause of the Poisoning of the Guests at the Herr-Snooks Wedding Feast near Louisville.

The cause of the poison which caused six deaths at the Herr-Snooks wedding near Louisville several weeks since has at last been settled. It is the ptomaine of chicken cholera, fowls infected having been used at the wedding. At the beginning of the investigation it was ascertained that the chickens and turkeys on the Herr farm were suffering with cholera about the time of the wedding. On the day before the wedding several fowls had died of the disease. The servant was on this day instructed to kill a turkey gobbler and prepare it for the feast of the following day. When the servant went to the barnyard she found that the gobbler was dead. She then took a turkey hen which showed evidences of being affected by the disease. The fowl was killed, picked and placed in the pot. Several chickens were then served in a similar manner. After cleaning one of the chickens the servant discovered that the flesh of one of its legs was black, and also that other parts of the body showed signs of disease. Instead of throwing the evidently diseased chickens away, the cook simply cut off the discolored parts of the chicken and placed the rest in the pot. This fact gave the investigators a clew. They had all along held the theory of ptomaine poisoning, but had been unable to establish the nature of ptomaine. They now suspect that the ptomaine resulting from chicken cholera did the deadly work.

A Kentucky Lady Lands a 205-Pound Tarpon.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Stagg, of Frankfort, are at Fort Myers, Florida, in their naphtha launch fishing for tarpon. One afternoon recently Mrs. Stagg hooked a tarpon, and after a hard and gallant fight of one hour and twenty minutes brought to gaff and secured a 205-pound tarpon, the largest silver king ever caught with rod and reel, or in any other manner for that matter. When the news was first known the citizens hardly believed it, and in that town, where tarpons have ceased to be a novelty, crowds were going and coming all day to view the king. Its length was seven feet and three inches, and it girthed four feet and two inches. Mrs. Stagg is justly proud of her achievement, and declares she will try and beat her own record. The largest tarpon caught with rod and reel heretofore known weighed 184 pounds, and was caught in 1888 by Mr. John G. Hectucher, of Missouri.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y. 4y1
